INNOVATIONS

AN INTRODUCTION

With demand for cost saving products continually growing and legislation adapting to create better working practices, we aim to ensure that the products the industry needs come from Metpro first.

Utilising our in-house capabilities including R&D, design and a wealth of industry experience, we work internally, with our customers and end-users alike who have ideas, to bring new and innovative products to the market.

All communications with external innovators begin with an informal meeting designed to provide you with an insight into Metpro and how we can help. We want you to work with us in full confidence and to ensure this, our innovations programme operates under strict Confidentiality Agreements meaning your idea will remain just that; yours.
